Your passport to the best of the borough

WHETHER it's swimming or shopping, getting the best deal, or the best workout - local people will have the lot when the new Greenwich One Card is launched next week.

The One Card will be available to apply for online or in person from the Eltham Centre at the council's Eltham Lights Up event from November 19. It will also be available from any council leisure centre or library from November 20.

Cllr Denise Hyland, leader of the royal borough, added: "The Greenwich One Card will, I believe, be the first card of its kind in the country."

"By combining leisure and library services with discounts at local businesses we are helping residents to get the most from their local library and to take advantage of the sports and activities in our leisure centres - while also giving a boost to our local economy by keeping as much spending as possible within the borough."

"In the expensive pre-Christmas period I am delighted that so many local traders have already come on board. It's a great initiative to help local householders to stretch their money further - something that's a central part of our commitment to tackling poverty in the borough."

The One Card will replace the old Greenwich Card, which is currently used by residents to access services like libraries and leisure centres. Residents will have the same terms, deals and discounts they currently have with the current Greenwich Card. The One Card does not need to be renewed, nor is there a charge for it, and once you apply for it, it lasts a lifetime.

However, the new card does not just allow members access to local libraries and gyms - thanks to a partnership between the council and local businesses across the royal borough, the new card will also allow residents to save money and support the local economy by offering a range of savings and special deals.

Cllr Miranda Williams, the council's cabinet member for culture and creative industries said: "I'm absolutely delighted to announce the launch of the Greenwich One Card, which will be of huge benefit to residents. The council is committed to providing state-of-the art leisure and library facilities across the royal borough and the Greenwich One Card will allow easier and more convenient access to these services and hopefully encourage even more residents to use them.

"What's more, our partnership with an extensive range of local businesses will make the One Card a passport to all manner of deals and discounts for residents shopping locally. It will prove a great way to get an even fairer deal for residents and also illustrates the council's continuing commitment to support local businesses."

Better for business

GREENWICH One Cards will be available to residents from the launch date on November 19 and local businesses of all types are signing up to be part of this unique deal.

The launch of the card in the run up to Christmas is aimed at encouraging residents to do their Christmas shopping locally - and use local shops throughout the year. From shops and salons to bars and bakeries, the new card will create an extra connection with local shoppers and help raise the profile of businesses and boost the local economy.

Cllr Sizwe James, the royal borough's cabinet member for business, employment and skills, explained: "Businesses that sign up to One Card special offers will receive free publicity on the council's website, Twitter and Facebook sites and in GT which is delivered to every home and business in the borough. Participating businesses will also receive a complimentary window sticker enabling them to advertise their special offers."

Lesley Tuckley, licensee at the Earl of Chatham pub in Woolwich said: "Anyone with the brand new One Card can come along to the Earl of Chatham and get a ten per cent discount on a drink. There are so many people coming into the royal borough and getting involved with the local community and the new card will help people get more involved."

"There's loads going on in the local area including some exciting events so it's a great time for people to get to know local businesses like ours. The new One Card will help everyone become aware of the great deals available to local people."

Mark Sesnan is managing director of GLL, which operates libraries and leisure centres on behalf of the council. He said: "The Greenwich One Card 'opens doors' to borough residents by offering convenient access, using a single card, to libraries and leisure facilities and in the future will provide the latest news, updates, events and special offers via email."

"It's part of our commitment to affordable and accessible leisure, making life better for residents."

There's never been a better time to apply

THERE has never been a better time to go to school in Royal Greenwich – as our results demonstrate. Our Key Stage Two results continue to improve year-on-year, putting Royal Greenwich right up among the top performing 25% of local authorities in England. Children in Royal Greenwich primary schools make more progress and achieve better than most children across London and the rest of the country. Our schools are key to this success. More than 94 per cent of the borough's primaries are now rated as 'good' or 'outstanding', our highest-ever figure.

Most importantly, we are narrowing the gap for our most vulnerable children and stretching the most able. As a parent, you rightly want the very best education for your child and I am convinced that you will find what you are looking for in a Royal Greenwich school. Please read the booklet Primary Schools in Royal Greenwich which is available on our website and which gives details of how to apply. Remember - you will not be offered a place for your child next September unless you apply. Don't miss out. # Primary schools are top class

Greenwich primary schools have once again shown that they are among the best in the country. In Key Stage 2 tests this summer, the Royal Borough was in the top ten authorities in England on all the key measures of achievement. In reading, 92% of Greenwich 11 year olds achieved the expected level (Level 4 and better) compared with the national average of 89%. In writing, 90% of Greenwich pupils reached the expected level – three percentage points above national – and in maths Greenwich pupils' achievement was four percentage points higher than national at 91%. Of course, it is important that children do well in all three subjects. The rate of pupils achieving the expected level in reading, writing and maths was 86% – six points above the national average, making Greenwich joint fourth in the country.

But good achievement is not just about results in Year 6. Greenwich schools are working hard to ensure that children make progress every year as they move through school. So, in assessments of 7 year olds, 91% of Greenwich pupils achieved the expected level (Level 2 and better) in reading; 89% in writing and 94% in maths. Greenwich schools are also among the best in the country at helping children progress between the ages of seven and 11.

Ofsted recognises the high standards of our schools and they judge 94% of Greenwich primary schools as good or outstanding – ninth best in England.

Cllr John Fahy, the Royal Borough's Cabinet Member for Children's Services said: "A good school for every Greenwich child is a key priority for the Royal Borough. Parents will see from the excellent achievement of our children just how effective our schools are in helping children fulfil their potential. Our high expectations rest on great teaching and great leadership.

Primary schools are at the heart of our communities and their success owes a great deal to the support and participation of parents. Take a look at your local school – I know you'll be impressed!"

Living Wage legends

Fair pay employers celebrated

by Simon Banks

THE royal borough paid tribute to local businesses who pay the Living Wage and urged others to become Living Wage employers last week.

Company bosses were recognised for backing the fair wage deal and accredited living wage employers were thanked for their commitment to the initiative at a special event at the Woolwich Centre on November 2.

It was one of the many local events held for Living Wage Week from November 1-7, which saw the announcement of the new UK and London Living Wage rates. The London rate has now risen from £9.15 an hour to £9.40.

The Woolwich Centre event was hosted by council leader Denise Hyland and Cllr Sizwe James, the royal borough's cabinet member for business, employment and skills, in conjunction with the Living Wage Foundation and Citizens UK, which campaigns for employers to pay the Living Wage.

Cllr Hyland said: "After years of slow economic growth, during which time wages for many have stagnated and failed to keep pace with the rising costs of living, I and many of my local councillors have seen first-hand the affects the welfare reforms are having - impacting most on the poorest families in our society.

"Promoting a living wage is key to the council's priorities of growth, job creation and our vision for tackling poverty in Royal Greenwich. That's why I am proud to say that the Royal Borough of Greenwich is a long-standing supporter of the Living Wage. I implore our local businesses to do the right thing and aspire to become a Living Wage employer by signing up to the campaign now."

The royal borough secured Living Wage accreditation in 2013 and launched its own Greenwich Living Wage Campaign earlier this year. Local businesses are given a helping hand to off-set the direct costs of setting up and paying the living wage, and the council has established a business rate discount scheme as an incentive to the first 100 businesses receiving accreditation in 2015/16. More than 125 local businesses have expressed an interest and many are now accredited to the scheme, or are partway through that process.

Tor Njamo, Greenwich Citizens member and president of Ravensbourne Student

Union, said: "We are very proud to be a leader on what it means to be good employer in the higher and further education sector, through Living Wage accreditation. If we can do it, many more can do it too."

Poetry princess

TO BE, or not to be – a winner of a national youth poetry competition.

Fifteen-year-old wordsmith Ella Standage is one of 15 winners of the Foyle Young Poets of the Year Award.
Organised by The Poetry Society and supported by The Foyle Foundation, the award is one of the largest literary competitions in the world and attracted 12,288 poems from 5,846 poets from 69 countries. Among this year's winners are poets from Canada, China, New Zealand and the UK. The competition is open to all young poets aged 11-17 years old writing in English who submitted poems on any theme they liked.

There were 100 winners and Ella was one of 15 top winners who received an award at a Royal Festival Hall presentation on National Poetry Day October 8. Her poem Retrograde impressed the judges winning her a week's residential creative writing course or poet residency at her school along with a goody bag. Her poem will also be published in an anthology of winners' poems with 24,000 copies going out to schools, organisations and other poets.

Ella, from Westcombe Park, who started writing poetry at seven explained that she wrote her winning poem during National Poetry Month back in April inspired by the lighter evenings of spring. "I wrote a poem every day. On day four I got stuck and so defaulted to writing about light, because the evening sky was so blue I could almost feel it. That day I noticed that the light wasn't cold anymore and that winter was finally over."

WAXING LYRICAL: Ella

verse at the awards ceremony, below, her award-winning poem

Greenwich teen wins top literary award

Retrograde by Ella Standage

*Tonight the streets are swamped in blue.
it settles on our skin, delicate, and feather light—(i don't believe in a higher power but god, this is divine)
the only noise audible is the soft intake and exhalation of air.
our language is one of motion:*

*you don't say anything but i can hear (the gradient of your voice sloping downwards)
the swaying undertones, the simple words unsaid.
somehow, this silence is lyrical, surrounding from all sides our harmony while (here; a pulsing rhythm beneath your skin) our fingers intertwine in the dark.*

HIGH NOTE: the deputy mayor joins the Woolwich Singers for a rehearsal before Saturday's event

In tune for rugby

THE borough's deputy mayor, Cllr Olu Babatola, checks that members of the Woolwich Singers are in fine voice, ahead of their appearance on the Olympic Park's rugby pitch at the weekend.

More than 40 Singers' members were due to take part in Saturday's mass choir performance at the England v New Zealand international match. It was the first time the stadium had hosted a rugby league international. Cllr Babatola called in on their rehearsal last week at Woolwich Public Hall to wish them well.

Wendy Young, founder of the choir, said Saturday's event was "a great opportunity to perform on a big world stage in front of thousands of people."

The programme included 'Wake me Up' by Avici, 'Without You' by U2 and 'Give it up Baby' by KC and the Sunshine Band, together with the British National Anthem and the New Zealand national anthem, with a verse sung in Māori.

The Woolwich Singers were founded in 2012, and come together once a week to practise and sing. They meet from 6.30 – 8pm at the Public Hall, Wellington Street, Woolwich SE18 6PW (entrance via Town Hall) each sessions if £2 and includes a drink.

Wendy added: "The aim of our choir is to sing together, meet new people and have fun! No one has to sing by themselves and there is no audition to join. We sing a mixture of traditional and pop songs – something for everyone, and everyone is welcome."

Elections for young people's council

A TOTAL of 58 candidates have been nominated to stand in the elections for Greenwich Young People's Council (GYPC).

Voting will take place in 15 borough schools, colleges and youth hubs between November 17 and 19, during normal opening hours. Young people will be able to vote only for candidates who go to their own school or youth hub.

The GYPC provides a voice to young people and children so they can influence decision-making within the council. All the candidates are aged 11 – 19, or up to 25 for disabled young people. The results will be announced on November 24. Elected youth councillors are expected to commit around four hours per week. They serve a term of office for two years.

Being a youth councillor means representing other young people and making a difference in the community. Youth councillors get the opportunity to make new friends, develop skills and gain experience, receive free training, coaching and mentoring, and go on trips both inside and outside the borough.

GYPC initiatives are designed to raise awareness and involve young people in politics, democracy and citizenship. They do this by producing an annual manifesto and delivering an action plan, which focuses on the key issues that affect the lives of young people in Royal Greenwich.

Cllr John Fahy, the council's cabinet member for children's services, said: "It is important for the council to know what young people are thinking as we plan our services for the borough. I encourage them to read the candidates' manifestos, and use their vote on Polling Day. It is very encouraging to see so many young people involved in this election process. Young people are interested in democracy and I look forward to the results."

There were also talks in subjects such as beekeeping and the First World War. Younger visitors took part in an architectural treasure hunt while exploring the house, and made their own gargoyle

Tracy Stringfellow, chief executive of the Royal Greenwich Heritage Trust, said: "We were overwhelmed with the response to the day, which saw record numbers of visitors exploring the house. The future of Charlton House depends upon the support of local people and a great many visitors expressed an interest in becoming members of the Trust."

Hundreds hang the habit

by Simon Banks

HUNDREDS of smokers are now on track to quit the habit for good, marking a big victory for Stoptober - the month-long stop smoking campaign backed by the royal borough.

Two hundred and forty people have signed up to Stoptober through local drop-ins, enabling them to get the support they need to quit tobacco for good. The events were organised by the council and the Charlton Athletic Community Trust as part of the borough's support for Stoptober, the biggest stop smoking challenge of its kind, coordinated nationally by Public Health England.

The 28-day-long campaign reached out to thousands of smokers with 989 residents enquiring about the support available to help them make a behaviour change and eliminate the barriers that some smokers have when trying to quit.

Cllr Denise Scott-McDonald, the royal borough's cabinet member for community wellbeing and public health, said: "The number of residents who have signed up to the Stoptober Challenge is very encouraging and a great victory for the teams involved in helping people to make such an important change to their lifestyles.

"Research shows that those who give up for around a month are five times more likely to quit for good. Stoptober highlights a range of techniques and support to help smokers quit."

School's biggest craft fair

UNIQUE handcrafted items are on sale at the Halstow Primary School craft fair this Saturday (November 14).

Now in its ninth year, the event has grown every year and this weekend's event is the biggest yet with a huge range of stalls organised by the school's Friends group.

Saturday's fair includes a children's craft area run by a team of volunteers where children can get crafty making Christmas gifts and two floors of craft businesses. These include a range of textiles, jewellery, knitwear, ceramics, glassware, clothes, Christmas decorations, cards, cakes, toys and upcycled goodies as well as local authors signing books and an on-site massage therapist.

Craft fair organiser Eve Daniels said: "The fair has been a success amongst the East Greenwich community for nine years and brings the whole community together, at the same time it raises funds for the children of Halstow Primary. We are very grateful for the support the community have given us over the years and we really hope many people come to enjoy our biggest ever event this weekend." The fair takes place at the school in Halstow Road, East Greenwich from 12-4pm.

Sparkling start to Christmas

by Dick Townsend-Smith

THE run-up to Christmas will start with a bang in Woolwich on Saturday, December 5.

A spectacular fireworks display will light up the sky as the council's annual Woolwich Winter Warmer kicks off.

Everyone is invited to go along and enjoy the event, which takes place between noon and 5.30pm in General Gordon Square and Powis Street. This year the theme is 'toys', and families can watch popular toy and Christmas-related films on the Big Screen.

The traditional Christmas parade will make its way through the streets with children carrying the toy-themed lanterns they have made for the event.

People can also check out the live owls and ice carving displays and sample festive fare at food stalls.

Throughout the day, strolling costumed characters will entertain people in the square and Powis Street.

There will also be a music stage with a school choir, hip hop and R&B, and a pantomime.

Shops will have special offers for residents who hold the new Greenwich One Card.

Cllr Miranda Williams, the council's cabinet member for culture and creative industries, said: "The Woolwich Winter Warmer is set to be another fantastic and fun event for all the family. There will be something for everyone. I encourage everyone to come along, soak up the atmosphere, and enjoy themselves."

Cllr Sizwe James, cabinet member for business, employment and skills, added: "Many local businesses will be running special deals and offers and it provides local residents with a great opportunity to support their local high street in the run-up to Christmas."

● A free, drop-in workshop for lantern-making will be held at Woolwich Library in Wellington Street on the day from 11.30am-3pm for people who want to take part in the lantern parade. For more information visit www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk

WOOLWICH WARMER: residents take part in a previous parade and enjoy the finale fireworks

ROYAL BOROUGH OF GREENWICH

'No parking' zone to be extended

THE big clampdown on people who park their cars and vans on grassed areas at council-owned land in Abbey Wood has paid off.

Since the fixed penalty notice signs were put up on October 7, the number of illegal parkers on the grassed area has gone down to a trickle.

But the problem has not gone away – just moved. Thoughtless drivers are now parking further away, outside the notices zone.

As a result, the council has now decided to extend the enforcement zone. By the end of the month, penalties will be issued to anyone parking on grassed areas in Cookhill Road, Panfield Road, Felixstowe Road and Combewell Crescent.

The council decided to take action against bad parkers following complaints from residents that vehicles were churning up the grass and stopping children from playing.

The notices warn that parking is not allowed, and anyone who does will get a £60 penalty. If that is not paid within 14 days, the penalty rises to £100. And if that is still not paid, drivers will be taken to court. The 'no parking' action is being enforced by Wing Parking, a firm employed by the council.

Cllr Chris Kirby, the council's cabinet member for housing and human resources, said: "We thought we were getting this parking problem under control, but it has simply relocated itself. So we now have to take further action. This is a big issue for residents at Abbey Wood. People get very annoyed when drivers park on the grassed communal areas outside the housing blocks. What they are doing is anti-social, and we are determined to do something about it, and hit the people who do it hard in their pockets."

New scheme supports teens in foster care

Along with six other councils across the country, Royal Greenwich has teamed up with the national charity, The Fostering Network, to pilot the model which has been shown to be a successful way to improve outcomes for GT spoke to Yvonne and Gerry Godfrey, the carers who will run the 'hub home' about the merits of the Mockingbird Model. Gerry said: "The whole thing is based on the idea of the extended family as an environment that can provide support to young people. As part of the programme we have regular meetings where those in care can meet others like them and foster families can also interact. The hub is there to support individuals when they need it - whether they are facing a big problem or just need an alternative way of looking at

Cllr John Fahy, deputy leader of the royal borough and cabinet member for children's services, said: "I welcome this opportunity to be part of an innovative programme that will lead to more teenagers in our care having stable homes with Greenwich foster carers."

Cold-snap deco

The cold winter months can be a challenging time for residents, which is why the council is in place to keep services running and local people safe and well. The royal borough will be rolled out to help keep roads and paths usable. There is also plenty of support about the cold, thanks to the council's Stay Warm Stay Safe scheme.

THE royal borough is ready to keep residents on the move and vital services up and running if the country faces severe weather in the coming months.

The Winter Service Plan is in place from November to March and outlines the decisive action the council will take to keep highways and footpaths in a safe and passable condition in snowy, icy conditions.

It also describes how the council will make decisions during severe winter weather - such as how it prioritises salting and gritting routes for roads and pedestrian footways.

When it comes to treating roads there is more than one option in the Winter Service Plan: pre-salting, where rock salt is used on the roads to prevent ice from forming during frosty conditions and post salting - where rock salt is used to melt and remove ice and snow that has already formed on roads and footways. The council will also remove snow where appropriate and aims to respond to all requests as quickly as possible, with main roads, public transport routes, hospital access routes and busy hills being prioritised. It also aims to clear slopes and stairways in communal areas of estates where possible. There are also 150 salt bins across the borough for use by residents to grit the highway.

Cllr Danny Thorpe, the royal borough's cabinet member with responsibility for highways, said: "Severe winter weather can be really challenging for local people which is why the council prepares well for severe conditions with its Winter Service Plan. We remain committed to keeping roads and pathways usable and important services running for residents wherever possible.

"We also encourage residents to make a big difference by doing small things like brushing away snow near your home and checking in on elderly neighbours. Use common sense and your actions will contribute to a safer and more accessible neighbourhood please don't be put off clearing paths because of any legal implications."

Winter warmer support

THIS winter the royal borough is once again teaming up with local organisations to provide a range of extra services and support for residents who may be at risk during the cold weather. The Stay Warm Stay Safe scheme provides a range of information, advice and support to help residents manage in winter conditions.

Residents who are over 60, caring for others, having problems keeping their home warm or paying winter fuel bills could benefit from our Stay Warm Stay Safe scheme. People who are living with a physical health condition or mental health problem, those learning disabilities, physical or sensory impairments are also encouraged to take advantage of the support available.

Cllr Denise Scott McDonald, the council's cabinet member for community wellbeing and public health said: "The winter months can be a challenging time for our most vulnerable residents, both physically and financially and that is why the council is providing a range of advice and support services to help people most at risk through our Stay Warm Stay Safe scheme.

"Residents who are concerned that they won't be able to keep warm this winter should contact the service for support. Equally those who have concerns about a friend or neighbour should also give us a call."

She added: "From a benefits check which will determine whether they are entitled to financial help, to energy efficiency assessments to check that they are warm and safe, there are many provisions in place to help local people this winter."

● If you think you could benefit from the Stay Warm Stay Safe scheme or if you know of any residents who may be at risk, please contact 0800 470 4831 or visit www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/staywarm.

Second run for Lie back and think of America

A ONE-WOMAN show that earned critical acclaim last year is set to return to the stage this month for a special one off production at the Shrewsbury House Community Centre.

'Lie Back and Think of America' was written and performed by Natalie Wilcox from Shooters Hill. The production aims to engage with its audience who are encouraged to wear vintage attire, with a prize to be awarded to the best dressed. The play is from independent production company Front Room Theatre, inspired by the documentary 'Choc'late Soldiers from the USA' and set in Bethnal Green.

The play is at the Shrewsbury House Community Centre on Friday November 20 from 7.30pm – 9pm, tickets are £10, or £8 for concession, four tickets can be purchased for a discount price of £35.

Music and Arts.

The Charlton-based arts project has been running events for Royal Greenwich Jazz since it started in 2009 and this year it has put together an all-local show with Blackheath based band, Jazz Sounds. The eight-piece jazz band has a heavy brass front line: tenor, alto and baritone saxophones and trumpet and a strong rhythm section of piano, bass, guitar and drums. The music they will be performing will range from Swing to Bebop. The first half of the evening will bring together poets and writers from the GFMA writers group who meet once a month. One is Robert Fanshawe who wrote the play 'All About The Boys' for the 2014 GFMA World War 1 project.

Tickets are £6 available at www.wegotickets.com or on the door from 7pm. Charlton House will be hosting the event which runs from 7.30-10pm. Information: info@globalfusionarts.co.uk or 020 8858 9497.

Next Thursday (November 19), the arts group is redressing the balance this year when they put on an event for International Men's Day in Mycenae House in Blackheath.

The play, 'Troubled meets the Troubadour' (A Bitter/Sweet Cider sort of Comedy), focuses on men's issues and has been written by local writer Andrew G. Ogleby. Andrew made his debut as an actor in last year's GFMA production of 'All About

Fusion of arts

Music, theatre and poetry feature in November's events hosted by Charlton arts group

ON THE PROGRAMME: Jazz Sounds and (inset) arts group members in rehearsals

The Boys' written by Robert Fanshaw, another local playwright and member of the GFMA writers group. Andrew has been bitten by the stage bug and will be appearing alongside two of his fellow cast members from last year's production: James Hill who plays the ever patient pub landlord and Sam Burridge who is the troubadour from the title, Andrew on the other hand is the troubled one.

GFMA project manager Louisa Le Marchand said: "The play uses sharp humour, poetry and music to draw attention to some very serious issues around men's identities and their changing roles in society. Andrew and Sam play two ends of the same male spectrum but from differing perspectives, one glass half empty, one, glass half full. James the steadfast pub landlord holds up a mirror to both of them whilst desperately trying to get them to buy a drink and replenish."

Ghoul guide

AN impressive original production by the Roan Theatre Company (RTC) provided the perfect Halloween entertainment for drama lovers across the royal borough last month. Supernatural comedy thriller YODO: You Only Die Once was the latest in a line of successful plays presented by the RTC which is fast earning itself a reputation as a place for ambitious amateur actors to develop their talents.

YODO is a tale of paranormal activity, ghostly apparitions and beyond-the-grave drama set in an old haunted house. The story centres on the untimely death of television presenter Ella Pober (played by Francine Gardner) halfway through filming a programme about paranormal activity with the self-aggrandising minor celebrity Jonah Wick (Frankie Rockett) – a medium whose credentials are as dubious as he turns out to be.

Ella must adapt to being a ghost sharpish if she is to thwart Jonah's scheme to exploit her death to boost his ratings.

Written and directed by Stuart Mitchell-Smith, the production boasts an excellent script and storyline that is meticulously crafted and well-imagined. There are also enough jokes interspersed across the dialogue to keep smiles on the audience's faces. Each member of the cast brings their character to life (or after-life if they are playing a ghost) and the production's themes, delivery and characters are reminiscent of some of the more modern takes on supernatural stories such as Ben Aaronovitch's Rivers of London novels.

One of the most impressive elements of the show was the set (designed by David Townsend), which managed to get poltergeists moving objects around in a tongue-in-cheek manner, adding to the fun of the production.

Stuart said: "It's always a little bit scary producing something new, as it is untested and there is no guarantee that it will be well received. However that's one scare my cast, crew and I didn't have to worry about this Halloween as the feedback we got from audiences has been overwhelmingly positive."

Up next for the RTC is a production of Charles Dickens' Great Expectations at the Bob Hope Theatre - due to run next year.

CHARLTON

Charlton House - Postcard exhibition, examples from the thousands in the Royal Greenwich Heritage Trust collection, until April 2 2016. www.charlton-house.org

CITY types will love the latest exhibition at the M1 Fine Art Gallery. The display of images includes striking crowd scenes and iconic London landscapes all created on a typewriter by artist Keira Rathbone. The images also include portraits and views of the Greenwich skyline with poignant type drawings of Greenwich Park, the National Maritime Museum and the Greenwich riverside. Graduating in 2005 from UWE, Bristol with a degree in Fine Art, Keira is known around the globe for her incredibly unique method of producing unbelievably intricate artwork using only a typewriter. Nicknamed 'The Typewriter Artist', she has won recognition for her live 'typings' in public and her signature artwork which Keira creates using the letters, numbers and symbols to create art - from tiny stick figures to huge multi-page montages. The exhibition celebrates Rathbone's variety of subject choice and a comprehensive selection of works are featured in exhibition which runs until November 19. Gallery director Peter McAllister said: "The exhibition will celebrate Ms Rathbone's newly created genre of 'typings' with an extensive collection of original works of art and an exciting installation, exploring the depths to which her creativity reaches." The exhibition is at the M1 Fine Art Gallery, 20 Nelson Road, Greenwich, weekdays, 10am - 6pm, Sat & Sun 9am - 7pm. Tel: 020 8269 0906, visit www.M1Fineart.com

Royal Borough of Greenwich's Choice Based Lettings Scheme

Edition 467

BIDDING FOR PROPERTIES

People on the Housing register are able to bid for all properties, regardless of their banding. You must be eligible for the size of property and bids will be considered in the following order:

First Band A, followed by Band B both in priority date order.

Those in Band C will then be considered in registration date order.

Please note that there will still be some properties with age restrictions so only people of this age group can apply for these.

BAND

- A is for applicants in unsatisfactory housing, including people moving due to demolition and those underoccupying their homes.
- B is for applicants the Royal Borough of Greenwich must prioritise according to the law, particularly homeless people, and others with an urgent need to move for medical or welfare reasons.
- C is for all applicants on the housing register, including those that are in priority bands A and B.

How do I apply?

1 Get on the list

First, you've got to be on the housing waiting list to join the scheme. If you're not, register an application on line at

2 Find your applicant number

It will be on the letter you've already had from the Royal Borough of Greenwich about the new scheme. You'll need that number and the reference number of the property you're after, which will be on the advert.

3 Pick out your ideal property

by looking in Greenwich Time or regularly checking the website:

www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

Click on your preference on the website. If you don't have a computer, you can always use one for free at either The Eltham or Woolwich Centre or a local library.

4 Apply in one of three ways

- Text bidding is now available and the number to use is 07786207913. For further information please see page 2, or
- Phone the 24-hour hotline 020 8921 4340. It's an automatic push-button system and calls will be charged at the normal local rate, or
- Via the Royal Borough of Greenwich's website www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

IMPORTANT NOTICE FOR ROYAL BOROUGH TENANTS WHO ARE MOVING

DON'T GET A BILL AFTER YOU LEAVE

Under the conditions of your tenancy agreement, you have a responsibility to leave your property in an acceptable state of repair. We may visit you to check this. If we consider your property is in an unacceptable condition, you may be prevented from moving or be recharged for work.

To avoid getting an unwelcome bill, follow these rules:

- Repair any damage caused to the property by you, your family or visitors to your home.
- Make good any changes you have made to your property e.g. put back any doors that you have removed.
- Make sure your garden is not overgrown and you have cleared all garden waste.
- Clear all your items from the inside and the outside of the property. This includes any loft space, external cupboards or sheds.
- Return all the keys to the Royal Borough's offices no later than midday on Monday (or Tuesday if it is a Bank Holiday). You will be charged a further week's rent if you do not return your keys on time.

If you leave repairs that are your responsibility, or items that require disposal you will be charged the cost of this work.

Special Collection Service

The Royal Borough offers a Special Collection Service for tenants who are moving and want to dispose of something big and bulky, like a sofa or a fridge, and even unwanted clothes and other textiles.

Simply contact Waste Services on 020 8921 4661 and tell them where you live and what you would like taken away.

Items we will collect include:

Fridges, freezers, washing machines, beds, sofas, clothes and carpets (carpets must be cut up and tied into manageable bundles that one person can carry).

Items we DO NOT collect include:

Fitted kitchens, bathroom suites, boilers, sheds, fences and rubble.

Fun of the scrum

by Dick Townsend-Smith

THE victorious All Blacks had better watch out for themselves. Children in three of the borough's primary schools are setting their sights on becoming the next generation's Rugby World Champions!

Teams from Brooklands, Millennium and Timbercroft competed in a pre half-term tag rugby festival at Blackheath Rugby Club with 150 Year 6 children taking part. The eventual winners were a team from Timbercroft, with a Brooklands team runners-up.

Dave Marsh, assistant Headteacher at Millennium school, said: "The event is a fantastic opportunity for children from the three schools, not only to take part in a competitive tournament, but also to train alongside children from different schools."

Julie Williams, PE co-ordinator at Brooklands, said: "The children were inspired by the Rugby World Cup 2015 and having learnt tag rugby skills in their PE lessons competed in a partnership tournament as part of our commitment to give all our children the chance to take part in competitive sport.

"We were very grateful to Blackheath Rugby Club and the students from their academy who refereed and ran coaching sessions throughout the day. The children had been learning about the spirit of rugby - teamwork, respect, enjoyment, discipline and sportsmanship and a Fair Play award was won by a team from Millennium School."
